CHAPTER 1: HOW TO FIGURE YOUR TAX

Chapter Objective

After completing this chapter, you should be able to:

- Recognize various alternative minimum tax adjustments and preference items.

I. INTRODUCTION

After you have figured your income and deductions as explained in Parts One through Five, your next step is to figure your tax. This chapter discusses:

- The general steps you take to figure your tax, and
- An additional tax you may have to pay called the alternative minimum tax (AMT).

II. FIGURING YOUR TAX

Your income tax is based on your taxable income. After you figure your income tax and any alternative minimum tax, subtract your tax credits and add any other taxes you may owe. The result is your total tax. Compare your total tax with your total payments to determine whether you are entitled to a refund or must make a payment.

This section provides a general outline of how to figure your tax.

Tax. Most taxpayers use either the Tax Table or the Tax Computation Worksheet to figure their income tax. However, there are special methods if your income includes any of the following items.

- A net capital gain (see other courses).
- Qualified dividends taxed at the same rates as a net capital gain (see other courses)).
- Lump-sum distributions (see other courses)).
- Farming and fishing income (see Schedule J (Form 1040), Income Averaging for Farmers and Fishermen).
- Tax for certain children who have unearned income (see chapter 2).
- Parents' election to report child's interest and dividends (see chapter 2).
- Foreign earned income exclusion or the housing exclusion.

Credits. After you figure your income tax and any alternative minimum tax (discussed later), determine if you are eligible for any tax credits. Eligibility information for these tax credits is discussed in chapters 3 through 9 and your form instructions.

III. ALTERNATIVE MINIMUM TAX

This section briefly discusses an additional tax you may have to pay.

The tax law gives special treatment to some kinds of income and allows special deductions and credits for some kinds of expenses. Taxpayers who benefit from the law in these ways may have to pay at least a minimum amount of tax through an additional tax. This additional tax is called the alternative minimum tax (AMT).

In 2019, you may have to pay the alternative minimum tax if your taxable income for regular tax purposes, combined with certain adjustments and tax preference items, is more than:

- $111,700 if your filing status is married filing joint (or qualifying widow(er) with dependent child),
- $71,700 if your filing status is single or head of household, or
- $55,850 if your filing status is married filing separate.

These amounts will be indexed annually for inflation.

Adjustments and tax preference items. The more common adjustments and tax preference items include:

- Addition of standard deduction (if claimed),
- Addition of itemized deductions claimed for state and local taxes, certain interest, and part of medical expenses,
- Subtraction of any refund of state and local taxes included in gross income,
- Changes to accelerated depreciation of certain property,
- Difference between gain or loss on the sale of property reported for regular tax purposes and AMT purposes,
- Addition of certain income from incentive stock options,
- Change in certain passive activity loss deductions,
- Addition of certain depletion that is more than the adjusted basis of the property,
- Addition of part of the deduction for certain intangible drilling costs, and
- Addition of tax-exempt interest on certain private activity bonds.

CHAPTER 1: TEST YOUR KNOWLEDGE

The following question is designed to ensure that you have a complete understanding of the information presented in the chapter (assignment). It is included as an additional tool to enhance your learning experience and does not need to be submitted in order to receive CPE credit.

We recommend that you answer the question and then compare your response to the suggested solution on the following page before answering the final exam question(s) related to this chapter (assignment).
